Cadillac Fairview Joins CABA Board of Directors

August 31, 2010

CABA today announced the addition of Cadillac Fairview to its Board of Directors.

CABA is a global nonprofit industry association that provides information, education and networking to help promote advanced technologies for the automation of homes and buildings.

"We welcome Cadillac Fairview to the CABA Board of the Directors," said Ronald J. Zimmer, CABA President & CEO. "The knowledge and expertise that this storied real estate firm will impart shall strengthen our organization's depth and experience."

Scot Adams will represent Cadillac Fairview on the CABA Board. Adams has worked with Cadillac Fairview since 1996. Currently, as CIO directing the firm's IT organization, he is the senior member of the corporate Business Innovation & Technology Services unit.

Over the past 25 years, he has worked with several real estate firms in both Canada and the United States where he was responsible for implementing advanced technologies. Most recently his responsibilities have been expanded into a new role overseeing Cadillac Fairview's National Facility Operations and Security departments focusing on integrated building technologies.

Cadillac Fairview is one of North America's largest investors, owners and managers of commercial real estate. For more than 50 years, Cadillac Fairview has been leading the way in commercial real estate with innovative design, development and management.

Adams is a member of the International Council of Shopping Centers (ICSC) and has served on the Advisory Board of Realcomm. He holds a Bachelor of Commerce degree from the University of Commerce degree from the University of Calgary.

"I am extremely excited to have the opportunity to actively participate on the CABA Board," stated Adams. "I believe that CABA is the best organization at providing industry intelligence and the capacity to network amongst peers within the home and building automation industry. Board participation will be a valuable opportunity for our company."
