

Continental Automated
Buildings Association

30 YEARS

David Kaufman of Resideo Appointed to CABA Board of Directors

July 31, 2019

The Continental Automated Buildings Association (CABA) is pleased to announce the appointment of David Kaufman of Resideo Technologies, Inc. to its board of directors. Resideo is a leading provider of home comfort and security solutions, present in more than 150 million homes globally, and installations in 15 million homes each year. Resideo spun off as an independent company from Honeywell in October 2018. CABA is an international nonprofit industry association that provides information, education and networking to help promote advanced technologies for the automation of homes and buildings.

"I warmly welcome David Kaufman to the CABA Board of Directors," said Ronald J. Zimmer, CABA President & CEO. "David has a deep expertise in advancing automation technologies to shape the future of smart, connected homes and he will be a major asset to our association." Currently director of business development for Resideo, Mr. Kaufman is the primary Resideo representative for Internet of Things-related standards or alliances. He brings to the CABA board more than 30 years of experience holding various executive sales and marketing roles consistently achieving organic business growth totally over $500M. The holder of multiple U.S. patents, he is a published author on wireless technologies. He has held key positions in the Wireless Industrial Network Alliance, the HART Communications Foundation, and the Open Connectivity Foundation. He was a charter board member of the Wireless Compliance Institute, the Energy Information Standards Alliance, and the OpenADR Alliance. Mr. Kaufman has been recognized with numerous awards for his industry contributions including two awards from the U.S. National Institute of Technology (NIST).

"I look forward to a productive collaboration with the CABA board and I'm honored to join such an esteemed group of leaders in the smart homes and intelligent building sector," said Mr. Kaufman. "In this rapidly evolving market we have an important and exciting role to play - helping organizations set strategic course, and empowering individuals to make informed choices."

Connect to what's next™

30 YEARS

Resideo is a leading global provider of critical comfort and security solutions primarily in residential environments, and distributor of low-voltage electronic and security products. Building on a 130-year heritage, Resideo has a presence in more than 150 million homes, with 15 million systems installed in homes each year. We continue to serve more than 110,000 contractors through leading distributors, including our ADI Global Distribution business, which exports to more than 100 countries from more than 200 stocking locations around the world. Resideo is a $4.8 billion company with approximately 13,000 global employees. More information is available at www.resideo.com

CABA is an international not-for-profit industry association dedicated to the advancement of connected home and intelligent building technologies. The organization is supported by an international membership of over 380 organizations involved in the design, manufacture, installation and retailing of products relating to integrated home and building technology. Public organizations, including utilities and government organizations are also members. CABA's mandate includes providing its members with networking and market research opportunities. CABA also encourages the development of industry standards and protocols, and leads cross-industry initiatives. More information is available at www.CABA.org.

Contact information

Resideo

Bruce Eric Anderson, Director of External Communications
Bruce.e.anderson@resideo.com
(763) 954-5344

Continental Automated Buildings Association (CABA)

Conrad McCallum, Director of Communications
mccallum@caba.org
(613) 686-1814 x225

Connect to what's next™